Lab 03
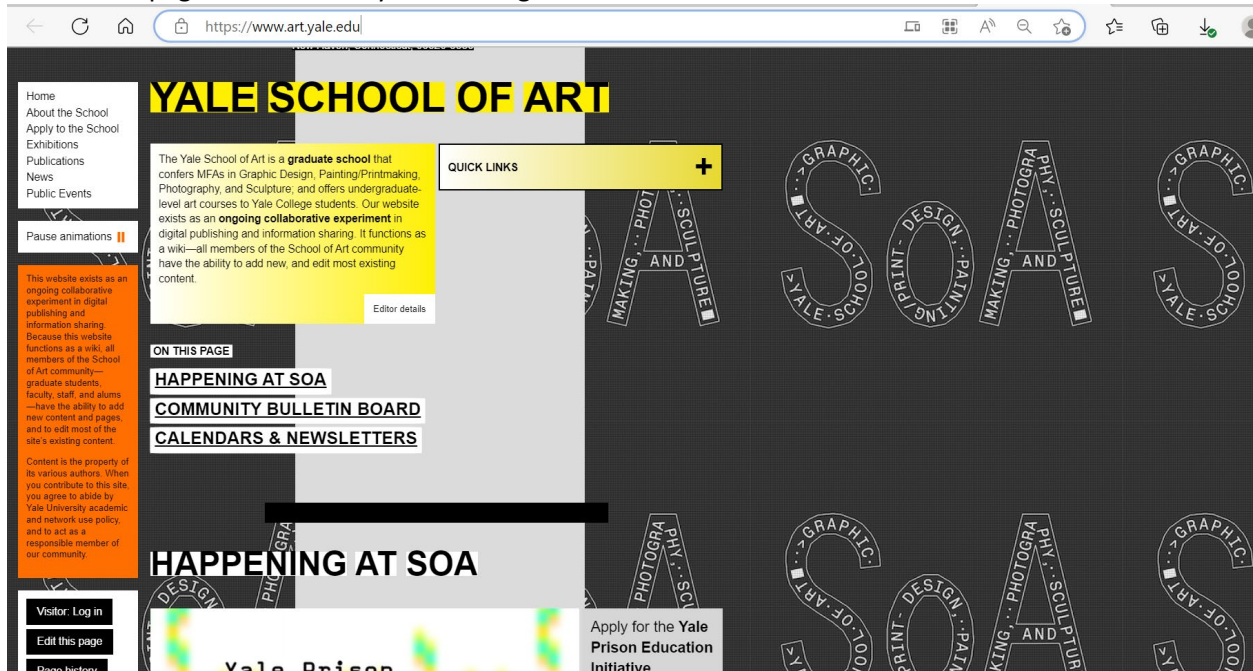

Complete all the tasks as mentioned below.

Task 1:

Look at the website of Yale University, School of Art whose main page is shown in below and discuss the good points and weak points of the design. You can check other pages by clicking on the links provided in the main page to better analyze the design.

Task 2:

Apply Nielsen's heuristics to evaluate the Airbnb website. For each heuristic, write a paragraph and include relevant screenshots.

Task 3:

Use Figma to create a prototype for a simple website which includes a login page and a profile page which allows users to create a profile for themselves. The information that must be included in the profile page includes the users name, photo, contact details, education, and employment history. These pages must be linked such that when the user appropriately provides credentials, he/she is redirected to the profile page.
